

Niles Teen Center scares again at Haunted Garage

Area residents were invited last week to bring their families and friends to experience the frightening creatures of the Niles Teen Center's eighth annual Haunted Garage, according to a news release.

The Haunted Garage is planned, designed, created and performed entirely by members of the Niles Teen Center. The Haunted Garage was open Oct. 23-25 at Tam Golf Course below the Howard Street Inn Restaurant, 6700 Howard

Zombies Natalie Reczek, Maggie Grabowski and Cara Nastali, all 11, wait for the haunting to begin Saturday as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

"Death-row inmate" Andrew Grabowski, 13, waits for an unsuspecting group to pass as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

Zombie Curtis Massari, 15, waits Saturday for the haunting to begin as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. The annual event allows members of Niles Teen Center to dress up and scare visitors as they walk through the haunted maze. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

"Murder victim" Mike Massari, 13, lies on the floor as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta)

Killer Klowns pose Saturday before the Haunted Garage opens as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

Teen Center supervisor Sean Miller helps Matthew Schwed, 12, with his makeup Saturday as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

Killer Klown Seni Membreno, 11, holds up an extracted "funny bone" Saturday as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

"Evil Doctor" Akis Melissinas, 11, waits Saturday for his next unfortunate patient as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)

Zombie Cara Nastali, 11, waits Saturday for an unsuspecting visitor as teenagers and preteens joined in to create the Haunted Garage in the basement of the Howard Street Inn in Niles. (Allen Kaleta/ for Pioneer Press.)